Abacus Resources Energy Selects ePsolutions, Inc. to Power Back Office

AUSTIN, TX – November 18, 2009 – Today, ePsolutions, Inc, a leader in back office solutions for competitive energy resellers, announced the selection of their emPower software solution by Texas Retail Electric Provider, Abacus Resources Energy. Entering into the Texas market, ePsolutions was chosen to automate all of the back office processes for Abacus which includes full EDI transactions and market support.

Abacus Resources Energy, headquartered in Dallas, TX, will go into production on November 24, 2009 after being certified by ePsolutions in the Texas Flight Test. Abacus' focus will be on the post paid market with plans to expand into the growing prepaid arena. They will service both residential and commercial businesses in Texas.

"ePsolutions has exceeded our expectations with their helpful customer service team & experienced staff. We understand that entering into this market can be a stressful, onerous process but with ePsolutions' knowledgeable team, prompt response time and exceptional follow up, we experienced a smooth, seamless transition," said Mark Angell, Executive Vice President of Abacus Resources Energy. "ePsolutions ability to offer a fully customizable solution for both post-paid and financial prepaid markets was very important to us. And with their current development efforts in support of "Pay as you go" by taking advantage of AMS meters, it was clear to us that ePsolutions is a visionary company that we're excited to work with."

Steve Langerock, Chief Executive Officer at ePsolutions commented, "ePsolutions is excited to welcome Abacus Energy as they enter into the deregulated electric market. We are dedicated to being an industry leader in back office automation for postpaid, prepaid, commercial and residential energy resellers. With the scheduled release of AMP (Advanced Meter Products) in early 2010, we remain committed to bringing the most advanced technology to the industry," continues Langerock. "We look forward to working closely with Abacus to support their business growth and help them succeed in this growing marketplace."
